Signers of the Declaration of Independence

Here is a word-search puzzle containing the names of the men who signed the Declaration of Independence back in July of 1776. And remember, if it weren't for these people and others, the Children of the American Revolution might not be in existence today. So good luck and enjoy!

I made this "MAGIC" Membership Puzzle to help you with Membership. To find your "MAGIC" number, count the number of letters in your first name, and if the number is 6 or more - subtract 4. If the number is less than 6 - add 3. For example: my name is Matthew, and has 7 letters in it, so I subtract 4 and my "MAGIC" number is 3. Find your "MAGIC" number and start at the upper left-hand corner. Check your "MAGIC" numbers left to right. Then read the message under your "MAGIC" number that the letters give you. Solve the rest of the "MAGIC" puzzle by using the names of members in your society - and prospective members.

Have Fun !!!

THE LEGEND OF MAIZE ★1981, Number 1★

Many years ago, the great Kahkawkonty told how the Great Spirit appeared to a wise forefather and showed him the plant, maize. The Great Spirit told him to preserve the two ears on the plant until the next spring, and to plant the kernels. He should preserve the whole crop and send two ears to each of the surrounding nations with the injunction that they were not to eat any of it until their third crop. The wise Indian did as he was commanded. By this means the maize (corn) was distributed among all American Indians.

Get ready for your society Indian dinner by unscrambling the names of these East Coast Indian tribes:

incaskhop	atmontawma
nkceniatos	atcwpsaiysa
tansupxet	mcicewoison
wiaedaer	nsuchuqekanso
